FIRE REFUGEES DROWN IN RUSH TO BOARD SHIP

From Thirty to One Hundred Reported Dead in Attempt to Reach Rescue
Ship

GOPHERS FIGHT FLAMES AND HOPE FOR AID FROM CLOUDS

Many Settlements Threatened by Fires; No Casualties Reported so Far

NORTH BAY, Ont.—Forest fire refugees arrived here Thursday from Halifax and reported that between 30 and 100 persons had been drowned
when they were crowded from a dock
where they were trying to board a rescue ship. Fires are reported sweeping northern Ontario.

Six Towns Destroyed

OTTAWA, Ont.—The forest fires which have been raging for the last several days in two widely separated regions of Canada, in northern Ontario and the valley of the St.
Lawrence river in Quebec have cost a number of lives, destroyed six towns
and, according to reports reaching the Canadian capital Thursday morning,
no thousands other towns unless rain
comes quickly.

Hope for Rain

ST. PAUL, Minn.—Over an area
more than 100 miles square, scattered forest fires blazed in northern Minnesota while forestry and state military officials directed the fight to subdue them and hopefully scanned the skies for rain.

Many small settlements are threatened by the flames and several are reportedly virtually wiped out, but as the present menace has been of long duration, there have been no casualties
and none are looked for unless the wind attains exceptional velocity.

For the moment, attention has turned from the iron ranges north of Duluth to the Cuyuna range in Crow
Wing county, where the little village
of Mangrove felt the threat of the fires late Wednesday. More than 100 men were on duty in that area and they hoped to hold back the flames
even if the wind should rise again.

MYSTERY GRAVE IN KENOSHA CEMETERY IS FOUND EMPTY

KENOSHA, Wis.—Kenosha county's graveyard mystery lost its interest here late Wednesday when the investigation carried on by Coroner
Parker revealed that the new grave
which had aroused the curiosity of the residents of the community of the Lutheran cemetery near the town of Somers, did not mark the last resting place of some person who had died recently and been buried there.

The coroner and the district attorney with other officials, went to the graveyard and dug up the grave, to find no casket there. They believe now that some one who years ago
had buried his mother in the cemetery and who had forgotten the exact spot of the grave came to the graveyard and placing the wrong location marked the grave and placed the new marker as a headstone.

FOGS DELAY START OF NON-STOP FLIGHT ACROSS CONTINENT

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—Because of heavy fogs prevailing in the mountain districts beyond Temecula early Thursday, Lieut. John A. Macready and Oakley Kelly abandoned their proposed non-stop San Diego to New York City flight in the big army monoplane T-2 and returning to this city announced they would try for a new endurance record.

HARRY DAHL'S FORD SEDAN IS STILL MISSING

A Ford sedan owned by Harry Dahl was stolen from in front of the Snyder drug store last Tuesday night, between the hours of 7 and 8 o'clock.

Police have made a canvass of the entire city in the belief that the machine was taken for a short
"joy ride" and perhaps parked in some out-of-the-way place. Reports of the theft have been sent out covering the surrounding territory but as yet with no result
in finding trace of the car.

GOVERNOR REVIEWS CASES OF KENOSHA DRY ACT VIOLATORS

Five Convicted in Liquor Ring Probe Appeal to Blaine
for Clemency

AGREES WITH ATTORNEYS THAT SENTENCES ARE TOO SEVERE

May Release Men at End of Reasonable Period

MADISON, Wis.—Governor J. J.
Blaine, for two hours Wednesday afternoon, reviewed the pardon applications of Nathan Gordon, Joseph Pilko, Ben Loefer and Julius Klouss, Kenosha involved in a former Kenosha county
liquor ring and sentenced to prison for violation of state prohibition laws. At the conclusion of the hearing, the governor took their applications for clemency under consideration without indicating whether he would carry out his previously expressed intention of appointing a commissioner to take testimony in their case before acting.

The governor and attorneys opposing the plea for a pardon of the men
agreed that in the cases of Harry S.
Gordon and Nathan Gordon, the sentences, providing fines which could not be paid, were too severe.

The sentence of Harry Gordon is for six years providing he cannot pay his fine, and of Nathan Gordon, four years and nine months.

Governor Blaine suggested that if the jail sentence was too long as a result of the heavy fine imposed, he would release the men at the end of a reasonable time, leaving the fine to hang over them for imposition if again convicted of violation of the liquor laws.

Mortimer Walter and Frank Symmonds, former district attorney of Kenosha county strenuously opposed the applications of Joseph Pilko and Julius Klouss for pardon. These men are serving one year, in addition to paying a $500 fine.

There was little opposition to the application of Ben Loefer for a pardon.
His previous good record, the fact that his wife is ill, and explanation
that he was the victim of circumstances in his connection with the Kenosha county liquor ring, indicated
that his application would be favorably acted on by the governor.

PROBE DEATH OF MAN FOUND IN RUINS OF HIS FRIEND'S HOME

MENOMINEE, Mich.—Police officials here are investigating the exact cause of the death of Hugh Beatty, 43, a farmer living near here,
whose charred body was found in the
burned farm-house of his friend,
whose farm is ten miles north of Menominee where he visited last Tuesday afternoon and evening.

According to the authorities, Beatty had been left alone at the farm
by his brother and the owner of the farm after he had refused to accompany them to a saloon three miles from the scene of the fire. Presence of a rifle found alongside the dead body was believed by authorities to have a possible connection with the death, which they think might have occurred before the farm-house burned.

PLAN CONFERENCE OF OLDER BOYS AND GIRLS AT RACINE

RACINE, Wis.—J. L. Rodgers,
secretary of the Wisconsin State Sunday School association, met with representatives of fifteen churches
here to perfect preliminary arrangements for the annual older boys' and older girls' conference which is to be held in this city under the auspices of the association from November 10 to 12. It is expected that approximately 700 young people, representative of the state, will be in attendance.

BROTHERS OCCUSED OF WAUPACA BANK ROBBERY

WAUPACA, Wis.—Rhinehardt and Leonard Radtke, brothers, face a charge of attempting to rob the State bank at Big Falls, Waupaca county, September 21. Bar of $5,000 each was given by their father and several other neighbors. The case will be tried at the next term of circuit court
at Stevens Point. Their case is supported by statements of L. C. Arndt, the bank cashier.

CARLE HLADS G. A. R. VETS

MADISON, Wis.—J. P. Carle, Jamesville, was elected president of the Wisconsin Third Infantry association, an organization of civil war
veterans, at its business meeting Thursday. Waupun was selected as the next convention city.

Spencer D. Ross, Elletts, was re-elected secretary and Mrs. W. Z.
Winbiger, Platteville, ex-treasurer.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT CHAMBER MEETING CALLED SUCCESS

By-Laws Adopted and Resolutions Passed at Meeting of Chamber of Commerce

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held Wednesday evening, when new by-laws were adopted, and plans for the coming year discussed by the membership.

J. J. Felber, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presided at the meeting, which took the form of an informal smoker. Cider, apples and bananas were donated by John C.
Burns.

Charles Schweizer, as chairman of the by-laws committee, read the report of the committee, which was adopted.

The Chamber of Commerce voted a resolution commending the people of West Salem in their action in preparing to send a large delegation, including the West Salem Military band,
to St. Paul to represent this district
at the National Dairy show which opens at the Minnesota State fair grounds next Saturday.

The chamber also passed a vote of thanks for the generous donations of Mr. Burns which aided greatly in making the meeting a success.

James Norak, Louis Hirschheimer,
Harry Williams and Charles Schweizer
were appointed bar tenders, and served the refreshments to their fellow members.

STATE JUVENILE WORK DIRECTOR WILL SPEAK TO COMMUNITY COUNCIL

state department of juvenile courts
and delinquent children, will be the chief speaker at the monthly luncheon and business meeting of the County Community Council to be held Saturday at 12:30 at the Chamber of Commerce. Because of the nature of the address,
Mrs. Fairchild, the president, said
on Thursday that attendance of members of the bar association
and all others interested was particularly invited. There will be a meeting of the council's board of directors at the chamber at 11:30, preceding the luncheon.

GIANTS AND YANKS FIGHT TEN INNINGS

Darkness Ends Hopes of New York Teams Settling Second Game of Series Thursday, 3 to 3

GIANTS IN LEAD UP UNTIL EIGHTH INNING

Meusel's Double With Ruth on Ties Count; Each Team
Gets Eight Blows

Yankees 3 8 0
Giants 3 8 1

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK.
—By the Associated Press.—The Giants and the Yankees
battled for ten innings to a tie
score when darkness called a halt. The Giants might have been able to play their half of another inning but the light was fading fast and Empire Hildebrand, realizing that the Yankees would have to bat in near darkness called the game. Thirty-six thousand persons or more saw a pitchers' battle in which Barnes and Shawkey fought it down to the last period. The Giants made their runs in the first inning on singles by Groh
and Frisch and a home run smash by Meusel. They did little with Shawkey thereafter.
Barnes used a slow ball throughout the contest. The Yankees scored their first run in the opening frame when Bancroft made a bad error and Pipp came through with a single. Ward
made a home run in the fourth and the Yankees scored their third run on doubles by Ruth
and Meusel in the eighth.

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK.
—By the Associated Press.—Robert Shawkey, "Bob the Gob," and curve ball finger extraordinary of the New York Yankees, faced the Giants Thursday afternoon in the second game of the world's series following the first tie game.
The National leaguers having won the initial tilt, Manager Hugus
sent Shawkey to the pitching mound
to battle the Giants in their course
with his mystifying books and fast ball. Jess Barnes stood ready to take up the Giants' burden in the box.

The Giants, coming on the field as the visiting club, believe they have the series as good as won.

"We have the Indian sign on the Yanks," said Frank Frisch, Giants'
middle-sacker, "and I think the Yankees are beginning to think so. They never have won a series from the Giants. You know psychology plays an important part in the old game."

The Yankees threw off the gloom
of their first defeat and hoped to emerge from the battling slump that has bothered them since the beginning of the last five games of the American league season.

"Old man psychology ain't playing in this series," said Ruth. "When I see him pinch hitting for me or out there sending them past the batters I'll give him a tumble. Anyhow,
his name isn't in the list of eligible players."

Ingizins brought his players on the field early and put them through a long batting practice.

Some thirty odd thousand folk
came out to see the sport and the early rush for the unreserved sections
was missing.

The reserve stands, sold out to capacity for the series, did not fill up until the players took their fielding workout. Another sultry afternoon gave the pitchers an incentive to turn on their speed.

George Murray, right-hander, served up some roundhouse curves for the Yanks to hit and it was noticed that Ruth was choking his bat and stoning his swing. Bob Shawkey was the only Yank pitcher to take part in the batting practice.

The bleachers were packed to capacity when the Giants began their batting practice, while there were only a few vacant seats left in the upper reserved stands with the crowd still pouring in.

Thome, a pitcher from Colgate, a right-hander, fed the Giants his curves during their technical visitors batting practice. Then Carmen Hill, who wears spectacles and pitches a mean curve, shot up a few for the Giants to hit. Jess Barnes appeared in the batting practice as he was Manager McGraw's choice for pitching. The Giants were the first to take fielding practice and executed some lightning fast double-plays with fancy stops and throws.

The Yankees also gave a brilliant exhibition in fielding practice both Dugan and Scott making pretty one-hand stabs and quick throws. The upper stands were filled at 1:50 p.
m. and the reserved sections were filling fast.

BRITISH AND TURK FORCES TO LEAVE NEUTRAL ZONE UNDER TRUCE AGREEMENT

Armistice to be Signed Today by Representatives
at Mudania Conference; Provide for Greek Evacuation of Thrace Within Ten Days;
Allies to Stay in Constantinople

WASHINGTON.—The report that an American destroyer was bombarded by the Turks while taking off refugees at Aivali, a town north of Smyrna, first carried in a Reuter's dispatch from Athens, is repeated in a dispatch from Athens received Thursday by the Greek legation.

Neither the navy nor the state department today had any confirmation of the reported attack.

PARIS.—By the Associated Press.—An agreement has been reached by the conference of the allied and Turkish military leaders at Mudania,
and will be signed Thursday, according to private dispatches.

The main lines of the agreement, says the Figaro, are:

First, the British and Turks both to withdraw from the neutral zone on the southern shore of the Dardanelles, the British to Gallipoli and the Turks behind the line formed by the rivers Granicus and Skamander.

Second, the Turks agree that the allies remain in Constantinople during the peace negotiations, on condition that Kemalist civil authorities are also installed there.

Third, the Greek army to evacuate Thrace within ten days. If the Greek government refuses to give the necessary orders, the allied fleets are to blockade the Greek ports and the Kemalist forces cross the Dardanelles and drive the Greek troops out of Thrace.

The dispatches do not say whether the Greek representatives accepted these conditions.

MADISON POLICE HOLD TWO SUSPECTS IN ROBBERY CASE

Efforts Being Made to Link Men
Up With La Crescent Bank
Robbery

ONE ARRESTED IN DISPOSING OF PENNIES AT MADISON

Wrappers Correspond With
Those Stolen at La Crescent

Efforts to link up two men held at Madison on suspicion, with the robbery of the La Crescent state bank
early last Friday morning will be made by authorities at La Crescent
following notification, by La Crosse
police, that the men were arrested as suspects at Madison.

The two suspects held at Madison
gave their names as John Davis, 25,
and Jack Brown, 27 both arrested
on suspicion when one of the men
was found disposing of large quantities of pennies. Twelve coin wrappers, described as identical with those stolen from the La Crescent bank, were also found on the person of one of the suspects. About $40 in pennies was stolen from the La Crescent bank.

Efforts were being made in Madison to link up the men with recent bank robberies. In the belief that the men may also be connected with the burglary of the Wausauke State Bank Saturday night, in which $5,
000 was obtained, chief Thomas Shaughnessy of the Madison police force, sent one of the wrappers to G.
E. Volzgen, president of the bank for identification. Over long-distance telephone, Mr. Volzgen told the Capital Times that the wrappers taken on coins taken from the bank. He said that among the money taken was several hundred pennies.

Davis denied under questioning by Chief Shaughnessy and detectives that he knew anything of the Wausauke burglary. He claimed that a man whose name he did not know had "given" him the coins and wrappers.

Davis is five feet, six inches in height, weighs 155 pounds. His eyes and hair are dark. Brown is five feet nine inches tall and weighs about 140 pounds, with dark hair and dark eyes.

RADICAL CHANGES IN AUTO LICENSE
LAWS ARE URGED

Legislative Program Outlined by Committee of County Boards
Association

WOULD SHIFT BURDEN OF ROAD BUILDING TO THE AUTO OWNER

Suggested Laws Would Raise
Ten Million in Revenue

MADISON, Wis.—Complete revision of the Wisconsin highway tax and automobile licensing laws is proposed by the legislative committee of the Wisconsin county boards association in its report completed late Wednesday. Conclusions of the committee will be submitted to individual boards for discussion and action when they meet in November.

The first concrete program for revenue raising to meet the increased cost of highway construction, without adding to the burden of the general property taxpayer is presented by the county board committee. Its recommendations have been arrived at after months of study and consultation with highway experts and tax administrators.

Specific proposals for taxation to raise $10,000,000 for expenditures on roads in the state call for the following:

Continuance of the present $25 fee on garages, estimated to yield $40,000 in 1924.

Continuance of the present $2 fee on motorcycles, estimated to yield $12,000 in 1924.

Continuance of the present $10 fee on automobiles, estimated to produce about $3,500,000 in 1924.

Enactment of a law calling for fairly graduated and largely increased fees upon motor trucks and motor busses, estimated to produce about $1,000,000 in 1924, of which $500,000 would go to cities over 5,000 and their counties direct. Proceeds of license fees on trucks licensed in cities

BRINGING UP FATHER

over 5,000 in population to go 75 per cent to cities and 25 per cent to counties.

Privilege Tax on Cars

Enactment of a law establishing a 2 per cent state highway tax upon all motor vehicles. This tax to be computed on the true valuation of the vehicle, being 90 per cent of the fair factory retail list price in the first year of ownership, 70 per cent the second year, 50 per cent the third year and 35 per cent the fourth and succeeding years. This tax is estimated to yield $3,300,000 in 1924, and would tax all cars where now $5,000 escape taxes the first year of ownership.

Enactment of a gasoline tax of 2 cents on each gallon of gasoline used in motor vehicles on highways. This tax is estimated to produce $2,500,000.

Should these laws be passed by the legislature as proposed by the legislative committee, total revenue of $10,552,000 would be raised, according to estimates, $7,164,000 of which would go to the state, $2,013,000 to the counties, and $875,000 to the cities.

Would Shift Burden

Effect of the proposed change if put into effect would be to shift $8,000,000 in taxes from the general property taxpayer to the motor vehicle owner. Funds needed annually commencing in 1924 will amount to $3,960,000, apportioned $2,300,000 to meet federal aid, $4,000,000 for the state trunk highway system maintenance, $2,000,000 for maintenance of the county trunk system, $785,000 state aid for highways, $200,000 state aid for bridges and $400,000 state aid for county highway organizations.

"It should be remembered," the committee says, "that the present total expenditures for rural highways in Wisconsin are well over $30,000,000. Of this amount the motor vehicle is at present furnishing less than $5,000,000, while general property taxes produce $25,000,000."

The committee unanimously favored adding 2,500 miles to the state trunk highway system bringing the total to 10,000 miles by 1924. Total cost for maintenance of the state trunk highway system, the committee said, should be paid by the state out of receipts from motor vehicles.

Recommendation was made that the state devise some equitable way to reimburse counties which have built concrete roads with the proceeds of county bond issues. Suggestion is made that a bonus of a certain sum per mile be paid for state aid concrete roads.

Take Over County Roads

Counties should take over a definite mileage of roads other than state trunk highways for county maintenance, bringing the total mileage of state and county highways to 30,000 within the next two years, the committee suggests. It also says that the state should either discontinue its present system of state parks or construct and maintain roads making them accessible to the public.

Co-ordination of marking between counties and the state should be developed, the committee says. It also proposes that the county highway committees have their names changed to county highway commissions to lend greater dignity to their positions.

LIVING SACRIFICE

A New Deal

SIMILARITY between French and Russian points of view on the Near East question has sent a special politico-financial commission from France to Moscow, and there is official confirmation of the report that a rapprochement between Soviet Russia and France is on the ways. Politics makes strange bedfellows, indeed. Heretofore it has been regarded as axiomatic that the bitterest opponent Russia had among the powers was France, with her intensely bourgeois outlook and her pre-occupation with her Russian debt. France engineered and financed most of the anti-soviet attempts at counter revolution. France led in the outcry against the Rapallo treaty between Germany and Russia. And now France is angling for the same sort of arrangement.

Had we to make a guess, we should say that the Franco-Russian agreement on Near East affairs is more of an excuse than a reason for the rapprochement. Probably the reason, really, goes back to the treaty of Rapallo. The allies, by numerous ineffectual and expensive adventures in military opposition to the soviets, had pretty well demonstrated that the new government in Russia could not be crushed and must be dealt with. And while England was trying to persuade France that this was a sound point of view Germany stole a march on both by actually reaching a Russian arrangement. The measure of the anxiety which this simple commercial treaty aroused among the powers is the row that followed. England and France were mad because the Germans beat them to it.

Of course diplomats could never publicly admit that Germany showed them the way. So the Near East affair comes as a welcome pretext, one imagines, for France to take a leaf out of Germany's book without seeming to do so. The Franco-Russian rapprochement, one suspects, may be largely explained in this way.

Nevertheless, it has some political possibilities of importance from the fact that England is the present chief enemy of both powers. Russia has been a British specter in India for two generations. France is blocking her on the continent. Either power has a tremendous army. The combination to coerce England, if it should be undertaken, would be enormously effective. The world will await eagerly the reaction of Britain to the new alignment.

Man's Rival

A SHIPMENT of iron telegraph poles goes to South Africa. Wood is abundant and cheaper, but it would be quickly destroyed by the powerful jaws of the terrible White Ants. In Ceylon Black Army Ants march on the war-path. A scientist counts them, finds 300,000 soldiers in one army, marching in companies, about 20 abreast, with officers running up and down the line and keeping order. Let a horse or man break a leg and fall in the path of the Army Ants, and in a few hours only a skeleton is left. These and other marvels of the insect world are described in Professor J. Arthur Thomson's fascinating "Outline of Science," a four-volume education without a headache.

Thomson tells about the Burying Beetles. When a corpse is to be buried, one of these insect grave-diggers rounds up a squad of helpers instead of tackling the job alone. Among locusts the wingless young form a living bridge over a stream until their brothers and sisters cross overhead. They change places, relieving the bridgers when fatigued, so that few drown. Certain bees remain in the hive as housekeepers, receive honey as workers bring it in, then store it in the comb-cells. Other bees do their share by standing patiently, fanning the air with their wings to ventilate the hive.

All these manifestations of "mutual aid" or the "social instinct" have the rudiments of definite civilizations. While insects work by instinct and man by intelligence, the two methods are strikingly similar. Man calls it instinct largely because it does not please his vanity to credit any creature except himself with intelligence. If the insects are intelligent and can communicate with each other, no doubt they have observed the civilization of man and contemptuously referred to it as "instinct."

We are important on earth, that's true. But we are only a part of a far more important system of nature. Each thing that lives must exist with a definite purpose.

Add This

WE wish the county boards, in setting forth their program for taxation of automobiles for the construction of roads, had gone a step further and added some provision that the state, as a whole, in collecting specific auto taxes for good roads, might have the direction of their expenditure. Heretofore highway taxes, taken from general taxation of all the people, have not unjustly been apportioned with other benefits than simply good auto roads in mind. The improvements have been placed with the advantage of each county first in mind rather than with an intention of constructing continuous trunk highways linking up all parts of the state. But if the motorists are to be taxed as a group, they have some reason to expect that their taxes shall be primarily devoted to giving them the best possible highway system. That means state-wide planning, as opposed to local initiation and decision as to the stretches to be improved. It is lack of this authority in the highway department that has prevented, thus far, a continuous good road between Madison and the western part of the state, for instance. Should the new road financing program include such an addition to the powers of the highway commission, one may easily predict that the additional burden on the motorist will be accepted with much better grace.

A special train with President J. J. Earling of the Milwaukee road on board, passed through the city at 6:45 last evening. The train stopped here only a short time.

The 1912-13 bowling season was formally opened last evening at the Combination bowling alleys on the north side. Before the alleys were opened a social hour was held in the hall above the alleys. The league season opens next week.

Mrs. N. B. Holway arrived in La Crosse October 3 from her trip to Europe with her son Elmore. They landed in New York September 17 and spent a few days there. They then went to Ithaca, N. Y., where Mr. Holway will attend Cornell.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Carter, 1809 Charles street, returned last evening from the convention of the Order of Eastern Star in Milwaukee, where Mrs. Carter was elected Grand Martha, a very important position in the lodge. Mrs. P. Pope and Dr. Hedrick were the other La Crosse people who attended the convention.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Cabbage in the county is yielding from fifteen to twenty-two tons to the acre. Rudolph Nesler had twenty-two tons and William Moos about the same. Mr. Keizer on the J. McKenzie farm will have about twenty-two tons while Wm. Gear says his will bring him $100 to the acre. Eugene Johnson seems to cap the climax with $125 to the acre.

A deal was closed yesterday whereby the John Gund Brewing company buys out the entire good will, machinery and business interests of the Zeisler and Sons' Brewing company. The sale includes all of the twenty-five or thirty saloons operated by the Zeisler company in all parts of the city. It does not include the real estate or buildings.

The people of the north side are stirring up the old agitation for the brick pavement on Mill street and may ask the council to include this in the street improvement next year.

Anton Korn, the aged father of W. Korn of the town of Washington died yesterday. Mr. Korn would have been 100 years old had he lived until November 1.

Mrs. N. B. Holway and Miss Jessie Holway left yesterday for Washington where Miss Holway will attend Washington College.

Miss Catherine McLaren will leave this evening for Clarksburg, W. Va., where she will be married to John H. Beck, formerly an electrician of the city. They will reside in Clarksburg.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

The first killing frost of the season came last night. It was very severe but foliage is so dry and well ripened that it was only blackened over the tops.

The work of grading Church street from G to J streets in Onalaska has been begun. It will be an excellent improvement. The council advertised for bids but they were all rejected. City Marshal Welch has the work in charge.

At the school board meeting last night plans were outlined for the celebration of Columbus Day October 12. A grand parade in which all schools, civic societies and patriotic citizens may take part was arranged. The parade will take place in the morning and in the afternoon speeches will be made.

August Grams who had arranged to build a mill on the causeway, has purchased the old Freeman mill lots and will build there instead.

The new school house on Vine street will be finished this week. The interior has been finished in oak and presents a very beautiful appearance. The furniture has not yet arrived.

The Dancers of Repetition

By H. IRVING KING

The Ashtons lived in a brownstone house, in a brownstone street, in a brownstone district, which was an island of solid wealth and ancient respectability entirely surrounded by trade, and belonged to all the best clubs. In short there was nothing of which Jack Ashton really stood in need. Now at thirty if a man is ever going to get married it is time he got busy. So thought Jack's mother and so she intimated to Jack. Secretly the old lady had picked out for her son Priscilla Higgins, daughter of Jeremiah Higgins, the banker. Priscilla was twenty-five and had not remained single for want of opportunities to marry. Needless to say, Priscilla was a beauty. She was tall and slender, had classic features, light brown hair, wonderful eyes and a fresh, fair complexion. Jack and Priscilla were just suited to each other and had known each other from childhood. And therefore while love for Jack had grown up in Priscilla's heart, Jack had come to take Priscilla as a matter of course, to regard her as a very dear sister.

So, in looking over the rosebud garden of girls for a wife, he never once thought of cutting the fairest flower in the garden. Old lady Ashton became impatient and one day said to Priscilla: "Priscilla, my son Jack is the biggest fool in New York. He has been in love with you for years and doesn't know it. I think you'd better tell him so—realize you are going to cry. Let's change the subject."

A few days later she said to her son: "Jack, why don't you propose to Priscilla? You couldn't do better. Don't you see the girl is in love with you? As for you, you booby, you have been in love with her for years and didn't know it."

"Why, mother," exclaimed Jack. "Of course, I like Priscilla immensely, but I never thought of it." "Of course you never thought," retorted the mother. "Thinking is one thing and acting is another. You of them go along with you—I'm out of all patience with you."

Jack left the house in a daze. Yes, it was his mother who had said he had been in love with Priscilla all along and had not known it. He fervently hoped that the old lady had been right. In the rest of her statement—that which referred to Priscilla being in love with him, now Mrs. Ashton had committed one mistake. She had not said he had used the same phrase about his being in love without knowing it.

And the statement so satisfactorily covered the situation that Jack stuck in his head's end when he sought Priscilla to offer up himself and his grandfather's millions upon the altar of his love he closed a very creditable speech in the most of her statement—"Oh, Priscilla—I have been in love with you for years without knowing it."

Priscilla, who had listened with blushing cheeks and eyes dim with tears of joy, went through an instantaneous freezing process. "It strikes me," she said, with forced laugh, "that I have heard that expression before. And what else, pray, did your mother say on this interesting subject? I suppose she also gave you the story of the man who said he was in love with her for years and didn't know it."

"The tactless Jack," stammered and blundered, "made things worse. There, that will do," said Priscilla. "Never mind the rest. You have done your duty like a good son. It is quite refreshing in these days, when parental authority is so little regarded, to find a son who will implicitly carry out his mother's instructions when the task imposed is so disagreeable as the present one. You can go back to mamma with a clear conscience—and pray ruin any future she may entertain of my dying for love of her charming son. I am afraid her natural, but rather partial, admiration of her offspring's superlative qualities has caused her to fall into a slight error with regard to the light in which he is viewed by his father and less interested persons. Good day."

"Oh, that cruel woman!" sobbed Priscilla when she reached her room. "How she has humiliated me! She has discovered my secret and told Jack. She made him come and propose—he

OVER FIVE MILLION NEEDED BY NORMALS FOR NEXT BIENNIIUM

Regents Drawing Up Budget to be Presented to the Legislature

MADISON, Wis.—Estimated expenditures of nine Wisconsin normal
schools for the coming biennium, 1923-24 and 1924-25 are between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000, according to conclusions reached by the state board of normal regents here to draw up the budget of its financial requests
to be presented to the next legislature. Normal school expenditures for the past two years amounted to $3, 112,161.

Decision was reached by the board
to request appropriations to carry out an extensive building program during the next two years. Since the war construction has been negligible at all state institutions with the result that conditions are reported to be crowded and new buildings needed.

The final report of the board was withheld pending a more thorough investigation of maintenance requests
made by the various normal school presidents. The business committee of the board of regents will make an inspection trip through the institutions to determine the amount of funds needed for the coming biennium.

Requests for money to be made to the next legislature are larger by nearly $2,000,000 than ever before made by the normal regents. Their budget of estimated expenditures will be gone over by the state board of public affairs when it meets in November and by the state board of education before it goes to the finance committee of the legislature.

Shoe Values, at the Lowest Possible Price. This principle has been the cause of our growth and success. We believe that the people in La Crosse and neigh-

FRESHIES PUT UP AGAINST BIG TEN TEAMS IN PRACTICE

Yearlings Go Through Chicago Line for Two Touchdowns in Mid-week Mix

KICK-OFF FOR CONFERENCE TEAMS COMES ON SATURDAY

Badgers Meet Carleton in First Game of Season

CHICAGO, Ill.—Freshmen eleven using the attacking style of football to meet the varsity teams, are being sent into action against the regulars in mid-week engagements throughout the football camps of the Big Ten.

At Chicago, Director Stagg gave the yearlings the ball and told them to keep it, which they did with so much energy that they smashed through the regulars on line backs for two touchdowns. A second combination of varsity men gave the goal before protection and kept the youngsters from scoring.

The Northwestern Freshmen held the varsity to three touchdowns in two hours of scrimmage, the last serious work-out before the Beloit game Saturday.

Yost's Wolverines beat the Michigan Freshmen 7 to 0 in a half game and then ran over a team of varsity reserves with apparent ease. The yearlings could not penetrate the varsity line but gained on passes.

Andrew Deane's Iowa Freshmen could make no headway against the Hawkeyes, although the varsity reserves frequently stopped the regulars.

The Minnesota varsity showed a big improvement over earlier opponents in their scrimmage with the Gopher yearlings.

Bob Zuppke's Illini were put on the defense against Iowa plays exemplified by the Illinois Freshmen and the Fresh crossed the line twice. The varsity line showed well in tackling and charging.

The Badgers had little difficulty in getting the Wisconsin Freshmen and made long, consistent gains. On the defensive they held the yearlings to a standstill.

Indiana, with a battering attack, beat the Hoosier Freshmen 7 to 0. All Freshmen combinations succumbed to the smashing attack of Purdue varsity, the regulars scoring four times.

Dr. Wiley's Ohio State varsity piled up thirty points in a workout with the Freshmen.

The kick-off for nine of the ten schools of the Big Ten comes Saturday.

Carleton Has Trick Plays

NORTHFIELD, Minn.—With a bag crammed full of tricks, the Carleton college football team will leave late Thursday for Madison, where it will meet the University of Wisconsin team Saturday.

There are very few followers of the Carleton team that are talking of victory.

In their final home practice the Carletonians tried out a wide variety of forward passes and other plays intended to puzzle and it was indicated that this style of play would form the backbone of the Northfielders' attack.

A Summary of the News

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Drought conditions were reported to be threatening serious damage to crops in many parts of the United States, not only affecting growing crops but slowing fall seeding.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Lester Garrison, a window washer, fell three stories while watching a world series bulletin board, and was unhurt.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—The Rev. V. J. Schatz, former parish priest at Gibson, Minn., was murdered instead of having committed suicide as was first supposed, according to a coroner's autopsy.

PARIS.—Mrs. Le Bandy, slayer of her husband, Jacques Le Bandy, self-styled "Emperor of Sahara" in 1910, and her daughter, Jacqueline, had a double wedding, marrying respectively Henry Audren, a French detective, and his son Roger.

Not Sure
A minister, on the occasion of a marriage, was at a loss in trying to discover the bridegroom among the company of young men present.

Fixing on a young man with a large flower in his buttonhole, he asked him quietly: "Are you a happy man?"

"That remains to be seen," was the solemn answer.

"But are you the man who is to be married?"

"Oh, that's another matter," Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

To Come
"Their wedding was very simple." "Yes, but I fear their divorce will be sensational!"

KITTY WAS A GOOD NURSE

The following story is said to be true, and is a remarkable instance of the wonderful sagacity of Madam Puss.

A miserable, half-starved cat, appeared at the door of a house in Birmingham one day. As it showed no inclination to leave, it was finally "adopted," and quickly became one of the family, showing an especial affection for the baby of the house.

One day it chanced that both parents were out for a short time, and a nurse was in but the child and puss. Immediately the mother returned she heard an agonized mewling from the cot, and, rushing quickly upstairs, discovered her little one almost falling down the stairs, and only prevented from this terrible accident by the cat, which was clinging with its front paws to the baby's clothing, holding the child up until the mother came to the rescue.

BADGER FEDERATION FILES PROGRAM FOR LABOR LEGISLATION

Recommendations of Unions for New Laws are Made to Industrial Commission

MADISON, Wis.—The program for labor legislation adopted by the Wisconsin federation of labor, asking important changes in the Wisconsin labor laws, was filed by the Legislative committee with the state industrial commission this week. Headed by J. J. Handley, Milwaukee, the legislative committee called on the commission to obtain further information.

Among the bills that will be introduced by labor are the following: Requiring the licensing of all painters in the state in order to properly protect life.

Requiring the erection of suitable sheds to protect car repairers.

A bill to license steam fitters.

Support of the bill to enact an Old Age Pension Law.

To bring students in vocational schools under the compensation act so that they may be compensated for injuries sustained in such schools.

A bill that would require prison made garments or articles of wearing apparel to be so labeled.

A bill to prohibit the use of the spray-gun or spraying machine in the painting industry.

Enactment of the Huber unemployment insurance bill.

Extending the periods of compensation for the "healing period."

A bill which would provide for a physician to be employed by the Industrial Commission to assist in securing medical testimony.

RIDING BRONCO KEPT HIM FIT

AUSTIN, Texas—"How come I lived to be 103 years old?" repeated the "fighting" man in Kimble, when the question was asked him.

"Well, for about half my lifetime. I've made it a regular thing to ride 10 or 12 miles on a buckin' bronco after cattle ever mornin' before breakfast. That's the only way I can account for it."

The "fighting" man, who won his title right after the Civil war, while serving as marshal of Greenville, Texas, is John J. Smith of Kimble county. He settled in the Lone Star state after being mustered out of the Confederate army, and divided his time, for years, between keeping the peace, as Greenville's police force, railroad construction and punching cattle.

His neighbors say he's as good a man with a rifle or pistol as ever he was, but Smith doubts it. "I kin still hit a squirrel as fur 's I kin see him," he says, "but I can't always be dead sure of knockin' their heads off the way I used to."

He still makes the most of his 6 feet 3 inches, however, and weighs 228 pounds without his cowhide boots on.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store.

BLUEJAYS FOUGHT THE CAT

There is a cat in Putala, Mo., which had the tables turned on it recently, and it now knows how it feels to be hunted as it has often hunted the birds. The cat was chased by a dog and took refuge up a pole where it had to climb to the very top before it found a place to stop. Here it was in immediate vicinity of a bluejay's nest and immediately the two birds attacked it making its perch a very uncomfortable one. They flew at it fiercely and picked it about the head making a special effort to get its eyes. Some linnets and sparrows looked on with evident interest and expecting to see a fight to the finish, probably. The owner of the cat, distressed at the unfortunate predicament of the animal, secured a ladder and persuaded a small boy to go aloft to rescue it, but the feline regarding the approach of the stranger as another source of attack, jumped to the ground a distance of twenty-five feet and scampered away.

DRUGGISTS FINED FOR SELLING LIQUOR ON FORGED ORDER

Liable for Filling Fraudulent Prescription, Madison Court Rules

MADISON, Wis.—Druggists filling forged prescriptions are liable criminally under the Severe prohibition enforcement statute, Judge George Grimm of the Twelfth Wisconsin circuit ruled late Wednesday in deciding the action of the state against Matthew Baldwin, a Watertown druggist. Baldwin was fined $200.

Judge Grimm held that it was up to the druggist to see that the prescription he fills is a valid prescription, or otherwise he has no protection for making the sale, and the law expressly declares that it shall be liberally construed to the end and that the use of imitating signatures as a beverage shall be prohibited.

The ruling of Judge Grimm was made after investigation by Louis Nagler, chief deputy prohibition commissioner, had established that he filled nearly 400 forged prescriptions, many of them bearing the name of C. A. Harper, state health officer.

CUBS FIGHTING MAD OVER THEIR DEFEAT AT HANDS OF SOX

CHICAGO, Ill.—The Cubs who Wednesday lost the first game of the city series to the White Sox—the thirty-third straight loss to the South Siders—were "fighting mad" Thursday, in the words of their manager, Bill Killefer, and prepared for the second game with a determination to win.

Osborne was the logical mound choice for the North Siders, while Leveque was the probable choice for the Sox. Another ideal day gave promise of an attendance that would exceed Wednesday's 17,000. Friday will be an open day after which the teams will resume hostilities at the South park.

Public Debate

TO BOR OR NOT TO BOR

La Crosse Tribune: In last Sunday's Tribune I read an article, or rather a reporter's interview with one of our hair dressers on the subject of short hair. It was surely an inexpensive advertisement for false hair.

I should think the time was past when women and girls would allow themselves to be poured into a fashionable mold. Just because some dressmakers decide for the long, tight skirt, and hairdressers for lots of false hair, should we follow like sheep?

Style mentors do not want women to get used to simple, easy styles of caring for the hair and clothing, thereby saving themselves money and headaches.

Is there anything more sweetly womanly about a bunch of dead hair added to your own, snarled and padded into all manner of shapes, than to a head of hair, cut to show the real shape of the head and waved neatly? It is at least more sanitary and comfortable, and one can get a hat on.

We don't call the fanatical man who allows his hair to grow, more sweetly manly; and as for cutting, ruining the hair and causing baldness, I think you will find as many women who are bald as men—only they pin it on.

It's all a big bluff to try to force the girls and women to buy some antique hair and thereby make the seller a nice profit, and more business teaching the victim how to get it on and off.

I believe that short hair has come to stay. Too many women have tasted the joys of hairpinless heads, and that's what worries the hair-dresser.

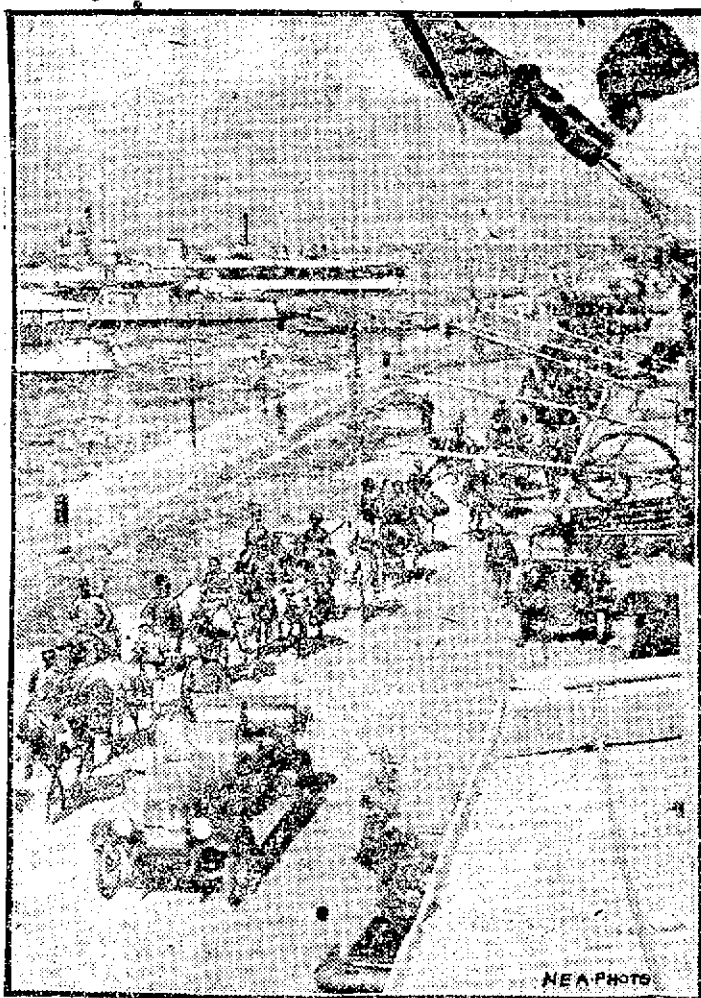

I do not think that everyone ought to cut their locks, but I do think they should use their own judgment. A long curly head on a man seemed a powerful adornment in the past, but man has progressed. He doesn't wear lace sleeves on his sleeves, or buckled slippers. And he no longer likes his soup strained through a hedge.

The trouble with the women is that they have never had the courage to be our real selves, and do what we really want to do. If style tells us to wear almost anything, even if it impedes our free step, we do it. If style demands a head stuffed and padded and waved, tortured, full of pins, of course we do it.

When style is a step forward in progress, such as a medium length skirt, and knickerbockers where they belong, doing without stiff corsets when we can get anything that makes for real betterment, I follow it.

CLAIMS DELAY BARS STATE FROM PUSHING LAKE DRAINAGE CASE

State of Illinois Filed Answer in Supreme Court to Contentions of Wisconsin

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The contention that the state of Wisconsin is estopped from prosecuting the case because of delay in bringing it, is made by the state of Illinois and the sanitary district of Chicago in an answer filed today in the supreme court to the original proceedings instituted by Wisconsin alleging that the diversion of water into the Chicago river was interfering with navigation on the Great Lakes. Substantially all other grounds urged by the state and district in defense to the charges, were used by them in the suit of the state of Illinois against the Economy Light and Power company in 1909.

GENERAL PERSHING TO DECORATE COLORS OF ARTILLERY UNIT

A. E. F. Commandant Goes to Mitchell, S. D., for Ceremony on September 29th

MITCHELL, S. D.—General John J. Pershing will come to Mitchell September 29, officially to decorate the colors of the 147th Field Artillery with the French Croix de Guerre. At the same time, Colonel Boyd Wales, who commanded the regiment during the war, will be decorated.

The decorations are to be made in recognition of the services of the regiment during the breaking of the "Hindenburg" Line at Juvigny of the western front in France. The action began Aug. 23, 1918, and lasted until September 6. The 147th Field Artillery was ordered to eliminate German machine gun nests in the valley before Juvigny and later these along the Torny-Sorny road to the East. The work of the regiment and of the 22nd Division, of which the 147th was a part, brought citations by General Mangin commanding the Tenth French Army and in charge of operations in the sector.

Other regiments of the division received their decorations at the hands of General Mangin, but through an oversight the 147th was left out. There were four artillery regiments in the division, and this being unknown to the official who made provision for the decoration ceremonies, only three regiments were ordered to participate. When it was discovered that no provision had been made to decorate the 147th colors, the French government communicated with the United States secretary of war. When negotiations were complete the regiment was back home and demobilized. The decorations for the regiment was forwarded to the secretary of war, who has instructed General Pershing to confer the decorations.

William A. Hazle, adjutant general of South Dakota, who served as lieutenant colonel of the 147th during the war, will participate in the ceremonies and has invited all former members of the regiment and all former service men in the state to attend.

The regiment was organized in October, 1917. The regiment was then camped at Camp Greene, Charlotte, N. C. as part of the Fourth South Dakota Infantry. Two battalions of the regiment were of the Oregon National guard, the balance being South Dakota men and replacements.

MOVING PICTURES TO BE SHOWN IN FORBIDDEN THIBET

People Shut off from World to be Given Sight of World's Wonders

LONDON.—Thibet, it is hoped, will not much longer be the land of mystery. Nor will the great outside world, it is expected, continue to be the great land of the unknown to the Thibetians. They are to be offered an opportunity of seeing, in the movies, something of the wonders to be found in the vast world beyond Thibet. In exchange it is hoped they will allow cinematograph pictures to be taken of the wonders of Thibet for people of other lands to see.

A cable just received in London announces the arrival in Calcutta of the members of the British Buddhist Mission to Thibet. They have begun the long and difficult journey on foot through the Himalayas.

On their way to Darjeeling the mission visited the Bodhidharma (or "Tree of Intelligence"), the sacred fig tree under which, according to Buddhist tradition, Buddha was sitting in contemplation when he attained the perfect wisdom. A film is to be taken of the tree and of the pilgrims visiting it, and it is hoped to show these pictures to the Dalai Lama in Lhasa itself. Films of wild animals and the various aspects of the outside world are also being carried in order to offer to the highest Thibetan authorities the first cinematograph exhibition ever given in their famous city.

One of the objects in displaying the wonders and possibilities of moving pictures is to secure permission for making film records of the country and its people.

All Allies in Meet; Eight Nations Send Men to Veteran Gathering

NEW ORLEANS—Representatives of World War veterans of eight nations will be present at the third international conference of the FIDAC (Federation Interalliee Des Anciens Combattants) or the International Veterans' Federation, which will be held here three days, starting Oct. 12, preceding the national convention of the American Legion.

Questions of international importance affecting the welfare of the former soldier will be discussed. Among these are the problems of immigration and emigration, hospitalization and rehabilitation methods used for disabled soldiers in various countries, exchange and commercial and industrial agreements among allied war veterans.

A constructive effort will be launched by the American delegates to bring about in Europe a better understanding of our immigration laws. By thorough study and explanation it is hoped that much of the misunderstanding and bitterness abroad on this account will disappear.

Each of the member countries will be represented by five delegates. Charles Bertrand, a member of the French Chamber of Deputies, will head the visiting delegations. He is serving his second term as president of the federation.

Colonel H. Nelson Jackson of Burlington, Vt., one of the vice-presidents of the American Legion, will be chairman of America's representation. Italy's delegation will be headed by Ezio Gtoja; that of England by Dudley Taylor; Belgium, Julien David; Rumania, Dr. Vergile Serdaru; Czechoslovakia, Henri Holecck; Serbia, Yourichitch Stourm.

NORWAY'S KING IS NOT ALLIED WITH SOCIALIST PARTY

Alliance Between Norwegian Cabinet and Socialist Party Explained

CHRISTIANIA—The newspaper Tidens Tegn, in an editorial article on the political situation published August 4, explains the alliance between the Norwegian cabinet and the socialist party as follows:

"The cabinet, whose party had been reduced to 37 of the 150 members of the Storting, or parliament, asked for and received the support of the Socialists and the young Communist party, whose parliamentary entrance was marked by the failure of the general strike. This party, therefore, was in need of an arbitration law so as not to overtax its promises to the laborers, and it was on this platform that the Communists and the special cabinet party came together. They co-operated satisfactorily from the beginning on questions of finance and taxation. The strongest connecting link was the prohibition party."

Recent correspondence on Norway's internal political situation made it appear that King Haakon had allied himself with the Communists. This is not correct. This can be said only of his cabinet, struggling to get a majority in the Storting. The king himself takes absolutely no part in the forming of party alliances. He is chief executive through any cabinet formed and supported by the majority of the Storting. This body is responsible for the kind of cabinet the king gets, even if its course results in a cabinet dependent for its existence upon support by a communistic faction.

King Haakon always has lived up to the constitution, and he never has tried to influence the formation of a cabinet, or to direct its policy in any way. He is not to be held responsible for any act of the government; this responsibility rests entirely upon the cabinet.

U. S. TO ABANDON CAMP HENRY KNOX IN NEAR FUTURE

Some Units Already Have Departed; Others Getting Ready to Go

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—With the departure of two battalions of the eleventh infantry, set for August 31, the abandonment of Camp Henry Knox will get under way. These units will serve as range details during the army rifle match at Camp Perry and upon completion of this duty are to proceed to Fort Benjamin Harrison.

The battalion of the Third Field artillery will rejoin the remainder of this regiment at Fort Benjamin Harrison October 1.

The Tenth infantry, comprised of only one battalion, being a training regiment, will leave October 1 for Columbus barracks, Ohio.

All training camp activities will be completed by September 1. The Third artillery and the Tenth infantry will assist in the work of closing the camp until they leave. Abandonment of the camp is to be effected by December 31, with the exception of a caretaking detachment of 100 men.

The Hardin county reservation is to be retained by the war department for use as a summer training post for troops of the Fifth corps area, embracing Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio and West Virginia.

Sufficient buildings will be retained for the accommodation of 10,000 soldiers, along with the water and lighting systems. It is believed that the remainder of the building will be salvaged and sold at public auctions in October along the plan followed in closing and disposing of other wartime cantonments. The present capacity of buildings at the camp is 30,000 men.

In the British museum are books written on oyster shells, bricks, bones, ivory, lead, iron, copper, sheep skin, wood and palm leaves.—Eau Claire Leader.

Here are the international leaders of the allied veterans' organization. Large pictures are Colonel Cabot Ward, America, and Charles Bertrand, France, president. Above, left to right, are: Julian David, Belgium; Ezio Gtoja, Italy; Henri Holecck, Czechoslovakia; Dr. Vergile Serdaru, Rumania. Inset below is Yourichitch Stourm, Serbia.

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM

TOLERANCE BY BERTON BRALEY A little boredom now and then, is healthy for the brightest men; it touches patience, calm and poise. And adds a lull to our joys. For when you've listened to a bore For half an hour or maybe more, You are so glad to get away That anything will make you gay!

The dullest books, the dullest folks, The dullest tales and jokes Enhance your natural delight In anything that's new and bright. So when a bore drones in your ear, Long years you'll not care to hear, Consider, as he talks to you, How glad you'll be when he is through.

If you can listen with a smile While he goes on in dreary style, If you don't crack beneath the strain Think how your character will gain! You've learned the secret of control, And you are Captain of your soul. The bore's a useful chap, you see, From whom, Good Lord, deliver me! (Copyright, 1922, NEA Service).

BON VOYAGE BY BERTON BRALEY Goodbye, old friend, you needn't look astounded. And ask me why I speak in accents grim. My sorrow is exceedingly well-founded. Things will be altered in the days to come. For you're engaged—a girl has come between us! Oh, yes, you think that all will be the same. But it's not true, you're in the spell of Venice. And henceforth will be an altered game.

Goodbye, old friend; no, I'm not jealous of you. I didn't want to win her for myself. I'm glad you've got so nice a girl to love you— Better true love than hears of gold, on self. But then, I know, I've lost my pal forever. No matter how intensely you deny, Friendship will keep, but comradeship Old chum, goodbye!

Your friends are hers, she says? I do not doubt it. She means it, too, I know; but none the less, A wife and life, there's no two ways about it. And though she'll want to aid your happiness, Somewhere she'll never look at me as you do. She'll change you too, for that's a woman's trend. Marriage, you know, is chum-ship's certain end. Goodbye, old friend! (Copyright, 1922, NEA Service).

THREE HUNDRED IN BAND TO BE HEARD FORD DAY

Greatest Aggregation of Musicians Ever Seen Here Will be Feature

La Crosse will have the unusual experience of listening to a mass band of three hundred or more, according to the announcement of Frank A. Gunther, who has charge of the music for Ford day, which will be held Thursday, October 26.

Seven bands have already accepted the invitation, and with the City band, will make eight bands that are definitely assured. And this is not much more than a beginning, according to the committee. Arrangements are being made for at least fifteen bands, so there will be plenty of music on Ford day.

The Ford day committee has purchased a mailing list of all automobile owners in this section of the country, and letters have already been mailed to 12,500 Ford owners in the six counties tributary to La Crosse. The committee is sparing no expense to bring in the largest crowd La Crosse has ever had.

Away with Dirty Gray Clothes

By HARRIET MADISON I presume every woman would like to get rid of the starchy, messy way of bolting her clothes, and as I have been fortunate in doing so, I am quite glad to tell about my simple method.

After all, the reason you bolt your clothes is to get out the "gray dirt" that the ordinary laundry soap does not wash out.

Please don't think that I am recommending the use of "washing powders" or mysterious solutions, because I won't risk my materials to any chemical strong enough to bleach them. My way is simply an application of method used by fabric manufacturers who wash their materials with olive oil soap.

Probably the only home laundry bar that contains olive oil is GREEN ARROW soap made by The Palmolive Co., whose splendid Palmolive toilet soap is known to every woman. I simply soak my clothes for 20 or 30 minutes in GREEN ARROW suds before washing them. That does away not only with bolting, but also with hard, destructive rubbing. The nappies and olive oil in GREEN ARROW soap do not create the ordinary laundry soap has little effect on.

Recently I was telling this to my grocer, "Yes," he said, "many of my customers now wash with GREEN ARROW, and I guess the wash boiler will soon be as much of a curiosity as the spinning-wheel."

"GREEN ARROW Laundry Soap makes clothes wear much longer, because it contains only soap—no alkali. There is 33 1/2% to 100% more soap in the GREEN ARROW bar, although it is not much larger, if any. But anyone who will stop to think can see that GREEN ARROW at a cent or two more costs less per week than other soaps, because it is all clearing power and goes nearly twice as far."

"I know that is true from my own experience," I told him, "for I know that my clothes have never looked whiter and felt softer even when new. Besides that, I want you to look at my hands. GREEN ARROW does not red-den or roughen them in the least when I wash."

DEMOCRATS IN COURT TODAY TO ARGUE RIGHTS TO PLACE ON GENERAL ELECTION BALLOT

MADISON, Wis.—By The Associated Press.—The state of Wisconsin and the democratic party joined issues before the Wisconsin supreme court Thursday to determine whether candidates in the September primary who professed adherence to the historic Jeffersonian democracy can have a place on the general election ballot under a party head.

The bone of contention over which the litigants argued in printed briefs filed with the court involves constitutionality of the provision of Wisconsin's primary election law requiring all candidates for a single political party for any one office to receive in aggregate 10 per cent of the vote cast for that party's gubernatorial candidate in the last general election before going on the ballot as party representatives.

Restriction of Rights
"This provision is an unreasonable restriction of the right of suffrage and is class legislation in violation of the Wisconsin constitution," Miles C. Riley, M. L. Luck, H. O. Wolfe, J. G. Hardgrove and F. T. Boesel, attorneys for the democrats, argued.

"It is clearly a reasonable regulation of the right of suffrage, enacted for a salutary purpose to restrain members of one political party from participating in the affairs of another party," Ralph M. Hoyt, deputy attorney general, representing the state, replied.

Both sides agreed that the 10 per cent provision of the primary law had been enacted to insure party integrity at the primary, to eliminate small parties, and to keep simple or keep down the size of the Australian ballot.

Charge Discrimination
But the democrats said that the provision of the law had not worked that way. Instead, according to their claim, it has unjustly discriminated against the minority party with the largest numerical strength, and has brought the attorneys to declare that "the democratic party and the democratic electors are the real sufferers under this law, not because it is the democratic party, but because it is the largest numerically of the minority parties and being such in a state wherein the majority party is intensely divided by factional issues, the vote for its candidates fluctuates widely."

Mr. Hoyt takes a different view of the situation. In his brief he says that the grievance of the democrats "is merely that the party is now being called upon to suffer, temporarily, the penalty that is properly and constitutionally visited upon it by the law when its membership deserts it and participates in the affairs of another party. The effect of the present situation, Mr. Hoyt said, "should be salutary; it should demonstrate the desirability of adhering to the fundamental spirit of the primary law and making the primary election a means whereby the voters of each party can determine without outside interference, who the candidates for their party shall be."

1920 Vote Abnormal
The contention of the democrats that the vote for McCoy for governor in 1920 was abnormal, a great fluctuation from the normal vote for governor on the democratic ticket, due to defections in the ranks of the republicans, brought the reply from Mr. Hoyt that the vote merely represented the increased normal democratic vote due to the new women's vote.

After giving election figures to show that the democratic strength in 1920 was not abnormal, or if abnormal it would not affect the present situation, Mr. Hoyt declared that "it is the low primary vote of 1922 exclusively, and not any supposed abnormalities in the general election vote of 1920 that is responsible for the present situation, and that brings us back to the indisputable fact that the democrats have had control of their own destiny and have deliberately done the thing that the statute was intended to restrain them from doing and have no just cause for complaint if the very mild and temporary punishment fixed by statute be meted out to them."

Concluding his arguments, the deputy attorney general said that "the rather mild tendency of the present statute to accomplish the object of the more drastic primary laws in other states, is one of the grounds why our statute is clearly a reasonable regulation of the right of suffrage, and certainly it would be most peculiar if the statute, enacted for that salutary purpose were to be declared void simply because in a particular case

it succeeds in accomplishing its object."

Can't Stand Test
The democratic attorneys maintained, however, that "any provision of law which renders the continuance of a political party so hazardous, uncertain and dependent upon an unstable arbitrary basis, cannot stand the constitutional test."

"This law imposes upon members and candidates of the minority party strongest in number unreasonable restrictions and burdens as compared with those borne by members and candidates of other parties. Test of its constitutionality should depend upon the operation and effect of this statute, not upon its mere form."

Following filing of briefs the court took the case under consideration. Decision will be rendered October 10 when the next decision day is held.

STATE EFFECTS BIG SAVING IN POSTAGE ON AUTO LICENSES

MADISON, Wis.—Through the efforts of Secretary of State Elmer S. Hall, the state will save $8,000 a year on the mailing cost of automobile licenses.

Mr. Hall was informed on Thursday by the postoffice department that his application to take the automobile licenses and the tax cards out of the first class edition and place them under 4th class matter, has been granted. Mr. Hall estimates that this will save the state $8,000 a year in postage alone.

The Old Quartette

Funny about that. Her name was Nellie, and we all met her at some party where we sang. Dan and Gus were both struck awfully hard, and they finally had a fight over her and that busted up the quartette. But Sweezy was the one she ran away with. Well, those were happy days. You can call all the old boys back down the trails of twilight if you light up a Senero, the cigar of pleasant memories.

I wonder where the rest of the old quartette are—Dan and Sweezy and Gus? We were the boy wonders of the village. When the Ladies' Aid gave a strawberry festival, our "Silver Threads" and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" were good for enough ice cream to make us sick for a week. Every time they had a moonlight excursion up the river, they invited us along to sing "Good Night, Ladies." Whenever they got up a sleigh-ride party, they had to have us sing, "I Was Seeing Nellie Home."

LEGAL WAR LOOMS BETWEEN VOLIVA AND METHODISTS

Church Will Fight Order of Zion City Leader Ousting
Methodist Church

PRINCETON, Ill.—Action was taken Wednesday by the Rock River conference to defend the rights of the Methodist Episcopal church in Zion City. Bishop Thomas Nicholson of Chicago told the conference that the problem was too big for the church and pastor at Zion City to handle. It is not a question alone of the Methodist denomination, he said, but a question of the rights of citizenship.

On motion of Dr. John Thompson, pastor of First church, Chicago, the conference ordered the appointment of a commission of three ministers and three laymen with power to employ legal talent to maintain the rights of the Methodist Episcopal church to continue its work in Zion City.

"This is a question," said Dr. Thompson, "of civil rights and constitutional liberties. We are not only fighting our own battle, but we are fighting for the principle of human rights."

For Religious Freedom

Voliva, overseer of the Christian Apostolic church in Zion, founded by the late Alexander Dowie, has served notice, it is said, on the Methodist church to quit Zion City. The Methodists state their church organization is older than the founding of Zion City. They also claim that in a country guaranteeing civil and religious liberty all individuals have a right to worship according to the dictates of their consciences.

Voliva has declared that Zion City was founded exclusively for members of the Christian Apostolic church and that all others are intruders.

The conference commission, it is expected, will test the legality of Voliva's claims in the courts.

RUDY WIEDOEFT WITH EIGHT FAMOUS VICTOR ARTISTS

Those who are Victrola "fans" will welcome the announcement of the coming concert by the Eight Famous Victor Artists, an all-star aggregation of men who have made great names for themselves through their recorded work. This event will take place at the La Crosse theater on Thursday evening, October 5, under the auspices of the Fred Leithold Piano company, local Victor representatives.

Among the artists is Rudy Wiedoeft, favorably known for his marvelous work on the saxophone. To the average person a saxophone is something that every orchestra should have, but in Wiedoeft's hands it comes into its own as a rare solo instrument.

At the tender age of nine years Wiedoeft took up the study of the clarinet. His father for years had been an orchestra leader in Detroit, and helped the youngster as much as time would permit. After having mastered the clarinet he saw and heard for the first time a saxophone, an instrument practically unknown ten years ago. Immediately he saw its possibilities, waited weeks to have an instrument made and then set out to master it.

About this time he decided to "go west" in search of broader fields. Landing in Los Angeles, Calif., he had no trouble in securing a position with one of the leading orchestras, and immediately the saxophone became a popular instrument in that part of the country, thanks to his pioneering. After having served through the war in the Marine corps as a sergeant, Wiedoeft went to New York with an orchestra, and has become known as America's premier saxophonist.

Coming with Wiedoeft are Henry Burr, tenor; Billy Murray, tenor-comedian; Albert Campbell, tenor; John Meyer, baritone; Frank Croxton, basso; Monroe Silver, monologist; Frank Banta, pianist. The Sterling Trio and the Peerless Quartet are in the party and will favor with concerted numbers.

In The MOVIES

COLLEEN MOORE—RIVOLI

Rupert Hughes has given a new idea and a new touch to the movies with his insight into the serious side of human nature. As in "The Old Nest" he touched upon the string of mother love, so in "Come On Over" he plays upon the chord of youthful affection. The story is told in a film which opens at the Rivoli today for the rest of the week. Colleen Moore has the star part, and one knows by experience what an adorable Irish colleen Colleen makes. It is the story of an Irish boy and girl separated by emigration. Shone over on this side can never get together the money needed to bring his sweetheart over, so finally she comes unannounced. There is a pretty drama when she comes, told with Rupert Hughes' inimitable style.

RIVIERA TODAY

Ben Hendricks, Jr., who plays the part of the tramp in the Rodinason released feature, "Free Air," which is at the Riviera theater today, turned the tables on a party of real western cowboys one day during the filming of the picture.

One of the cowboys laughingly asked him if he could "ride the part." "Oh I guess I could," replied Mr. Hendricks, "I've ridden a few horses in my life."

A few minutes later the cowboy led in a vicious looking bronc and asked the actor to try his luck. It was a typical "fool horse" and it came in stiff-legged, ears back and teeth bared.

Mr. Hendricks didn't say a word. He took the halter swung the bronc and made a running mount. Then for the next ten minutes the spectators stood open-mouthed, with admiration at his skill.

CASINO TODAY

Westerners have always regarded the oriental as inscrutable, sphinx-like, fishy-eyed and poker faced, thinking of who knows what.

Such a type Conrad Beidt has to portray in the Paramount picture "Above All Law," at the Casino today, when Beidt will be seen as Prince Avar of India. It is with consummate skill, the early reviews say, that Mr. Beidt presents the two sides of this foreigner—the one side of bold and courtly gallantry, the other of sly and malicious eastern cunning.

It is a queer character, that of Prince Avar of India and therefore an interesting one. The manner in which Mr. Beidt depicts it in "Above All Law" illuminates every picture scene detail without once violating the laws of realism.

"HOMESPUN VAMP"—MAJESTIC

"A Homespun Vamp," in which May McAvoy will be seen here today at the Majestic Theater offers the star an entirely new kind of role—that of a little country Cinderella, who drudges for a pair of stingy old Scotch uncles. Naturally the tale abounds in homely country touches, from the cooking of corned beef and cabbage by the star, through the ludicrous match-making attempts of her guardians, a pair of masculine old maids who are, respectively, the village cobbler and carpenter. A lousy country lover forms an excellent foil to a city sweetheart who appears later in the story. This gentleman's path is by no means smooth however, and before the clever little romance is ended there are plenty of decidedly dramatic complications.

GAYEST BROADWAY IN "BROADWAY ROSE"

With Mae Murray in the stellar role of "Broadway Rose," which comes to the Riviera Theater Monday motion picture fans will see the beautiful Metro star in an elaborate production which is said to surpass even "Peacock Alley" and "Fascination."

As in the latter pictures Miss Murray is provided with a role which gives prominence to her ability as a dancer and affords opportunity for striking costumes in great profusion. The story concerns a country girl who, by her extraordinary ability as a dancer, becomes the idol of Broadway.

DON'T SQUEEZE BLACK- HEADS—DISSOLVE THEM

Squeezing and pinching out blackheads make the pores large and cause irritation—then, too, after they have become hard you cannot get all of them out. Blackheads are caused by accumulations of dust and dirt and secretions from the skin and there is only one safe and sure way and one that never fails to get rid of them—a simple way, too—that is to dissolve them. Just get from any drug store about two ounces of calomine powder—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—wash off and you'll be surprised to see that every blackhead has disappeared, and the skin will be left soft and the pores in their natural condition—anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should try this simple method. Strand Theater tonight, and it should prove interesting to recall some of the characteristics of this last of the Caesars, which the noted moving picture producer has revived.

Nero was a reckless spendthrift and disliked to wear the same garment twice. He was known to stake 400,000 sesterces on a single throw of the dice.

Nero was so vain that he changed the name of the month of April to Neronius and intended to change the name of Rome to Neronopolis. He was fond of one person Aegle, his former slave, and at one time intended marrying her. She was faithful till his death, and helped bury him although nearly every one else had deserted him.

Nero died at the age of 32, on the anniversary of the day he put Octavia to death. His courage failed him at the last minute, and although he put the sword to himself another hand had to push it home. His last words were "What a great artist the world is losing."

PERSONS CAN COME, BACK SALVATION ARMY DECLARES

Jess Willard is confident he can come back with a knockout for Dempsey. Pugilistic history shows few "comebacks" and it is generally believed a man cannot come back.

The Salvation Army has disproved this. It has taken men, women and children, ravaged with disease and discouraged and broken on the wheel of life and re-built them. It has taken the immoral and made them clean. It has taken the dissatisfied and they have become content. They have taken the poor and shown them how to become prosperous.

They have proved that those who are down can come back if they only desire to do so. The Salvation Army slogan, "A man may be down but he is never out," was used only after it had been proved. A man may be physically, mentally, morally and spiritually down, but the Salvation Army who will deliberately buy another stove after reading our ad. of the Chambers Fireless Gas Range because she thought it would not do the great things that we claimed it would do, and then after seeing us demonstrate ask us to trade in her stove?

Not so much because it would save over half her gas bills.

Not so much because she would be complying with the order of the Wisconsin Coal Committee to save coal, and gas is made of coal.

Not so much because it would reduce her meat bills.

Not so much because it would save her time.

Not so much because it would lessen her labor.

But mostly because she could have better meals. And also because she could step out of her store any time during the morning for a few minutes when customers were scarce and prepare her dinner and forget about it until dinner time, where with her own stove it requires more time to prepare an ordinary fried dinner at noon, when she is busy, instead of a steaming hot, delicious prepared dinner, if she had a Chambers Fireless Gas Range.

DOPE UPSET WHEN GIANTS TAKE OPENING GAME OF SERIES

MANY THOUGHT JOE BUSH INVINCIBLE SPORTSMEN WAGER

Shawkey for the Yanks and J. Barnes for the Giants Apointed Thursday

YANKS MUST BRING TO BEAR HITTING ABILITY

Huggins Admits that Giants are Fighters

NEW YORK.—By The Associated Press.—Joe, like bowls of milk, can be upset, as proved by the nine of McGraw, in taking the first game of the series from the Yankees, 2 to 1. Huggins, mite of a man who leads the Americans, hopes to salvage some of the split opaque fluid and has nominated Joe Shawkey for the opening game Thursday.

McGraw called experts declared that the Yankees with Bush, one of the best highly rated pitchers of the season, would be invincible. Sportsmen expected the dope and bet on it. Bush was poked from the mound by McGraw's pummelers and now the dope is upside down.

Joe Shawkey's name has been heard and applauded during the world's series. He is in form this year. He wears a red under shirt just like that worn by Mr. Bush. But red under-shirts neither win nor lose ball games. McGraw has chosen Joe Barnes, the former Oklahoma who brought the Giants out of the depths of defeat in the championship games last fall to work against Shawkey.

Shawkey's father, Carl Meyer, is the under-handed delivery. Probably he will be called upon to relieve him while Joe John Scott was told to keep warm up ready for action in Joe Barnes' relief.

The Yankees, even with Shawkey at his best, will need to bring to bear their hitting ability in order to win Thursday, said Little League. "We know," he added, "that the Giants are fighters and the only way to beat them is to win in and play day game."

A smooth, beautiful working machine will stop running if somebody hits it with a sledge-hammer. "Well have to pound them so hard that they won't be able to overcome us."

RICHARDS SCRIMMAGES BADGERS IN PREPARATION FOR OPENER WITH CARLETON ON SATURDAY

BY BOB DUNN

Coach Richards drove his men through another scrimmage of 25 minutes Tuesday night in preparation for the first battle of the year on Saturday. While there were the same spasmodic periods of brilliant passing last night as was evident in the first practice of the week, the teams fought more evenly. No scores resulted.

Shorty Barr featured in the passing game, first on the varsity and later with the seconds, while Irish, Gibson and Tebell did good work at the receiving end of the throws. The firsts, however, appeared somewhat weaker on the passing defense than did the seconds. The fact that many of the men were playing signals probably put a big damper on the effectiveness of the play.

Both long and short passes were worked on and while the regulars started out with a series of successful shots, attempts fell down more and more as the scrimmage continued.

Many Fumbles
Fumbling was too much in evidence in Tuesday's workouts. Captain Williams himself dropping the ball twice when tackled but doubtless this difficulty will be ironed out before the important contests. Williams redeemed himself later in the fray by zig-zagging through the seconds for a spectacular gain which brought a round of applause from the sidelines.

The regulars lined up much as they have been during last week's workouts. Tebell and Irish were at the ends. Nichols was passing the ball and Buclov and Murray were at the tackle positions. Bieberstein took Hoffeld's position at right guard. Smith at guard played a good game for the seconds in spite of the fact that he worked with but one hand as the other was still heavily bandaged.

Early in the scrimmage after the varsity had advanced the ball to within the 25 yard line, the coach called for some place kicks by Tebell. Gus was unable to get one over the bar in four attempts but it was not his fault. The passing of Nichols in the plays was such that it didn't give the Williams-Tebell combination much time to get away their attempts.

Shorty Barr also tried some drop kicks and got over two successfully.

Thrown for Losses
During latter part of the scrimmage, Barr was thrown for repeated losses by the seconds when he attempted to run way back on getting away passes. He was not well protected by his linemen who came back to guard him and was tackled several times for big losses.

One serious criticism of Barr's work last year was that he was too over-confident of his ability to get away successful last minute passes with the result that he was thrown for many big losses when they counted heavily. He has shown the same tendency in practices for the past week and unless he acts quicker when dors, policemen, firemen, musicians, messengers, telegraph operators, and park attendants. So about 40,000 persons actually were in the stadium.

An hour before the game time a woman of some 275 pounds squeezed through a crowded aisle to a seat she had reserved. Arrived there she became indignant.

"Why on earth," she asked, "didn't they fix this seat for me as they do every year. Get the head usher immediately."

The head usher came, recognized the lady and ordered one of the arms of the seat removed. Whereupon the lady smiled, sat down and bought a sack of peanuts.

The band played on.

Outside of the first basemen, Aaron Ward, the Yankees' second sacker, handled the most chances—nine. Casey Stengel pulled down four hoists to center-field, one more than the combined total of all the other outer gardeners of both teams.

Young, Ruth and Witt each had one putout, while the Meusel brothers did nothing but stop base hits.

Bob Meusel of the Yankees bettered his brother, Emil, of the Giants two hits to one, but McGraw's Meusel got his one hit when one hit meant two runs and a tied score. It put the finish to Bush's efforts to stop the Giants and made it easy for them to win the game a moment later with a sacrifice fly.

Watching the New York series at the La Crosse theater Wednesday afternoon had a wonderful time. The boys acted like they were occupying box seats at the Polo grounds right along with Judge Landis. They cheered the Bambino when his single drove in the first Yankee run and the Giant backers went wild when the big upset came in the eighth. Just like watching the game, they averred.

Watching the New York series at the La Crosse theater Wednesday afternoon had a wonderful time. The boys acted like they were occupying box seats at the Polo grounds right along with Judge Landis. They cheered the Bambino when his single drove in the first Yankee run and the Giant backers went wild when the big upset came in the eighth. Just like watching the game, they averred.

UNIVERSITY'S NEW RADIO STATION HAS 1,500 MILE RADIUS

New Broadcasting Station Will be Completed Within the Next Month

MADISON, Wis.—A new wireless broadcasting station with a radio-telephone radius of over 1,500 miles will be completed by University of Wisconsin radio experts within a month. This was announced on Thursday by Chief Operator Malcolm P. Hanson who believes that it will be possible to commence broadcasting market reports by October 15th.

Plans now in force call for the construction of an entirely new transmission set. Last year's equipment has been re-designed along improved lines and part of the installation of the new type of apparatus has already been completed. Enlarged generating apparatus will greatly augment the transmitting power.

Six 250 watt electron tubes, equal to the largest in the country, are being manufactured in the university laboratories for use in transmission this winter. All of the equipment for station W. H. A. has been manufactured in the laboratories of the university and the Wisconsin station was the third broadcasting station in the country. Reeve O. Strook and W. Morgan have been appointed assistant operators for the year.

Radio programs will be carried on in practically the same manner as last year according to W. H. Lighty, chairman of the committee on broadcasting programs. Several changes will probably be made when the station begins work but the lecture and concert programs will be continued. The university will also broadcast the programs of internationally known artists who are to appear in Madison this winter.

WHAT THE TURKISH AFFAIR MEANS

By FRANK H. SIMONDS.

WASHINGTON.—The Turkish victory supplies one more striking example of the fallacy which underlies much of the peace-making at Versailles. Nothing was more certain from the outset, than that in time the Turk would recover his strength, unless provision was made to keep him permanently helpless. Moreover, to do this was a very large contract. As it turned out the great powers have dealt with the Turk and the bolshevik in the same fashion and with the same result. As to Turkey the Paris conference conceived the brilliant idea of dividing its territories between themselves and leaving to the Turk those regions which were more difficult to hold and less profitable to administer.

In addition the Paris conference considered dividing a portion of the more unattractive territories between the Americans, who were to have a mandate for Armenia and possibly for Constantinople and the Greeks who were to have eastern Thrace outright and a mandate for Smyrna. Britain was to have Mesopotamia and Palestine, France, Syria and Cilicia, Italy, the region between Cilicia and Smyrna.

In theory the Turk was thus bridled, Greek, American, British, Italian and French troops were to be employed, the Turk to be thrust back into the hinterland of Anatolia, barred from Constantinople and the straits either by American troops occupying the Constantinople mandate or by an international force holding the same authority and backed by the combined fleet of the great powers.

But in practice it turned out that the United States and Italy were absolutely unwilling to use troops, declined to take up their respective mandates in Armenia and Adalia. As for the British and the French, the former while sending troops to Mesopotamia, sought to use the Greeks to restrain the Turks in the west, while the latter, faced with a choice between a war with the Turks in Syria and a tacit recognition of Turkish aspirations between Adrianople and the Syrian frontiers, chose the latter course.

The treaty of Sevres was worthless, unless it were backed continuously by force, and the great powers were unwilling to furnish the force, that is their publics were too weary with war to care for new adventures. As a consequence each power, while striving to hold what had fallen to it, sought to avoid the incidental burdens, the French and Italians by making separate treaties with the Turk, the British by using the Greek army.

Now the whole Near Eastern situation is in the melting pot. For the moment attention is fixed upon Constantinople and the European land armies against the soviet Russian forces, but this is, in reality, a minor consideration. What is really important is the future and the immediate future of all of the Moslem regions between the straits and the Persian Gulf and in fact the frontiers of India. The mandates of Syria, Mesopotamia and Palestine henceforth become not assets but great liabilities, they must be held by armies and by successful fighting, if at all.

Had the allies at the moment of the Paris conference been able to use only a portion of their victorious armies against the soviet Russian forces, had they been able to send considerable military expeditions, the doom of the reds was written. But they did not dare, given the temper of their publics and their armies. So instead they backed the various adventures of Judenitch, Denikine, Wrangel, etc., supplying arms and ammunition but not men. And the Russian people, seeing these obvious agents of the old regime seeking to restore the Czarist system, either stood aside or fought with the reds. In the end the west had to recognize in fact if not in terms that the soviet regime had prevailed and could not be destroyed from without. Now comes the equally humiliating confession with respect of the Turk. When the Near Eastern question comes up at an international conference, at the proposed Venice meeting for example, we shall see all the events of Genoa repeated, with only an amusing change of sides by the respective powers.

At Genoa the British, backed by the Italians, fought the French and the nations of the Little Entente to obtain immediate and full recognition of the soviet regime, because both countries needed an immediate resumption of trade with Russia and the radical elements in each nation had made a domestic political issue out of the Bolshevik question.

Now at Venice, France, Italy and the Little Entente will advocate an immediate recognition of the victorious Turk, will endorse all of his demands because their own domestic and foreign interest are best served in this fashion. The British, on their part will be isolated, as they sought to isolate the French at Genoa. These are the obvious moves in the big game. But Americans must see that underlying all else is the patent evidence that the Paris and the Wilson conception of a world directed by a governing committee made up of the three or four great powers is not only unsound but futile, for the simple reason that there is no possibility that agreement can be maintained between the members of the governing committee. Three are mighty few questions on which the Italian, the Frenchman and the Briton can see eye to eye and these are mainly unimportant.

Mr. Wilson's notion was that the war would end rivalries, that the various nations, entering the League of Nations would leave their guns at the door. As it has turned out, however there has been not a diminution but an increase in rivalries and the League of Nations has not been the scene of perpetual conflict only because none of the important issues were permitted to come before it and thus the fighting was done outside.

The bitterness between the French and British today is far keener than it ever was between the Germans and the British before the war. There are more points of friction between France and Britain than there have been since the fall of Napoleon. The Italians moreover, while they hate the French and miss no chance to block French policy, are just as eager to prevent British dominance in the Mediterranean and therefore ready to march with the French in the Turkish affair.

Before the World War the existence of two great groups of powers, comparatively equal in strength, served to preserve a certain stability. The British, the French and the Russians on the one hand and the Austrians and Germans on the other, had to work more or less in harmony or the consequences would have been fatal. Individual national aspirations had to be subordinated to the necessity of preserving the respective alliances, for isolation at that period might mean disaster.

But now everybody is free to follow his own inclinations and seek his own ends at the expense of everybody else's. Britain has refused to give France an alliance or a guarantee on the Rhine, therefore there is no reason why France should support Britain in the Near East. Both France and Britain turned a deaf ear to Italy in all Adriatic questions and Italy knows that whatever course she takes now, it will not injure her chance of French or British support, for this support will not be had in any event. Therefore the Briton backs the German and the Frenchman backs the Poles, the Frenchman and Italian back the Turk and the Briton the Greek. The whole thing becomes a confused diplomatic game and it is likely to stay so until a common peril, the rise of a new Germany or the development of a powerful Russia complete the nations whose safety is endangered to make a common cause and seek a general liquidation of outstanding differences.

The Turkish affair is then only symptomatic of what we are to expect henceforth indefinitely in Europe. It follows closely upon the Russian precedent, as I have said and it gives the final thrust to the idea of a league or even an association of nations, instead we are to have a period of intense competition, of every nation for itself and anarchy in foreign relations for the whole world. And in a sense, this is a return to a normalcy which was interrupted by the rise of Germany and the consequent combination of her neighbors who feel their own existence challenged.

Refined, Delicate Skin
Secured by Absorption

No complexion can be considered beautiful if the skin is coarse in texture. This trouble can be overcome by opening and cleansing the pores, the closing of which makes the skin rough. To open the pores and remove dirt and impurities use the mercolized wax process. The wax completely absorbs the rough, faded or discolored outer skin and unclogs the pores. The fresh, young skin underneath then is evidence is exquisitely delicate, refined and beautiful. And it is kept so, as the pores now freely expel effete matter and drink in the life-giving, circulation-promoting oxygen.

Microized wax, because of its wonderful absorption power, is fast superseding other treatments for coarse, pimply, yellow, muddy or blotchy skin. It is applied at night like cold cream and washed off next morning. The wax, to be had at any drug store (one ounce will do), is entirely harmless.

TOO MUCH MEAT HURTS KIDNEYS

Take a glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if bladder bothers you.

Eating too much meat may produce kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so that it no longer irritates, thus often ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders.
